Title: CDL Song Fest Delights All Ages

The third annual Song Fest opened to a bright, sunny Saturday afternoon. Frank Allison kicked off the day’s events with an engaging kids concert and energetic musical parade on the library grounds. The music continued with local musicians Judy Banker, Ben Daniels, and Annie Capps mentoring participants on all manners of songwriting. Gary Munce of the Chelsea-favorite band, Mo’ Easy, emceed the Variety Showcase, which gave amateur musicians a stage on which to practice the art of performing before a live audience. The day culminated with an acoustic performance by Grant-Lee Phillips. Phillips’s setlist drew from his current works and past fan-favorites. Audience members meandered to Zou Zou’s for an opportunity to meet Phillips and dialog about the concert. CDL thanks the Friends of Chelsea District Library for their support of this event and for all who came out and participated in a fantastic day of song!
